Course Outline

This course offers an overview of the financial services laws which are applicable in Malta. It starts by giving a general introduction of what law is, its functions and how it can be classified before examining certain topics in detail. As the financial services sector is a highly regulated one, regulatory laws and underlying principles will also be considered.

Who Should Attend?

This course is of great benefit to all persons who work in the banking, insurance and investment services sectors within the financial services industry. In particular, it is addressed to those practitioners who have not received extensive training in law but who inevitably must deal with a substantial number of laws on a daily basis.

Certification

A Certificate of Attendance jointly awarded by the Institute of Legal Studies and the Institute of Financial Services – Malta will be issued to participants (indicating the attended lectures).

Other

The venue for all training sessions will be held at: MFSA, Notabile Road, Attard BKR 3000
